On occasion and not all the time I feel like I'm bothering the people checking out my books. Sometimes they are really friendly and sometimes not so much.

Since We do not reside full time in GVM, I don't feel that I can answer this question properly. But from the standpoint of a part timer, I would like to know what sorts of on'line things you offer - Books, movies, games etc. You May already do all of this , I just don't know about it. if that is the case, it is my weakness. Not yours.

I forget about it. It would be nice to see regular postings on Next Door, for instance when you get new books, what's going on with community events, etc.
